

TIKO COMMUNITY- CAMEROON

FRATERNITY AND TOGETHERNESS

TIKO

Sr Marie Honorette, Marie- Olga, Patience, Vitale and Fany Jacinta

Sr FENO Marie Honorette (coming from Madagascar)

Sister in charge in the community

I have been in Tiko Community since August 2014. In March 2016 the Congregation asked me to be in charge of our Community.

I always make an effort to know, understand and accept the different character of each one of the sisters in the Community. If there is misunderstanding I try to bring back unity which is our goal as Sisters of Christ. I thank God for giving me the grace to serve Him in this particular mission. I can say that to be in charge, is not an easy task at all but I believe that when the task is given the grace of God is there also. Therefore, even when we come from different backgrounds, with different temperaments, different levels of education, different cultures, as a Sisters of Christ we can build Fraternal Community as Jesus taught us. "May they all be one" Jn 17,21.

MIDWIFE IN REGINA PACIS HEALTH CENTRE MUTENGENE.

I thank God; He has chosen me to be alive, a Christian, a Religious with the Sisters of Christ and a medical practitioner. At the beginning there was a language barrier so I had to use non-verbal language (gesture...). Nearly always, the person understood and we laughed together. At least the message was handed on.

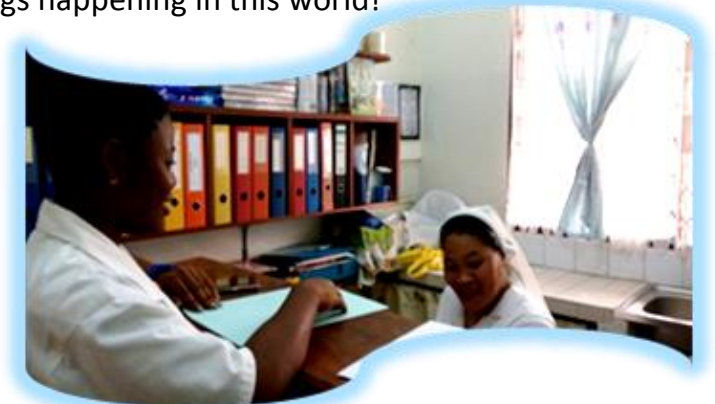

I thank the Sisters in my Community and my Colleagues who are Midwives in Regina Pacis Hospital. They contributed much in helping me to understand this special and precious mission of welcoming new life every day. Gradually, by the grace of God, I am able to understand, to talk, and to meet their needs. (Jer 1,7-9).

Sr Marie-Olga RAZAFINDRAMIADANE (coming from Madagascar):

I am working as an accountant at the REGINA PACIS HEALTH CENTRE MUTENGENE. The experience since I started carrying out this responsibility has not been an easy task at all. This is because of the many challenges I have to go through each day. I recognize that God was there in the past, is still there today and will continue to be there. I really thank God for giving me the graces to 'see' Him in the poor, the weak and even the strong clients who come to the hospital in need of medical care. Thanks of them, I can go through times of doubt and trouble and keep on trusting God: I don't worry too much about the things happening in this world!

Sr DJUMO VITALE :

I, Sr. Vitale work in the Regina Pacis Health Center, Mutengene. I would like to share with you my experience in my apostolate. My function in this institute is to work in the finance department. I also assist the secretary and the cashier if necessary. My desire has always been to serve the sick and honestly I am enjoying myself. My mission to the sick is to ensure justice in the cost of their treatment. It has been very challenging especially with the present economic crisis in this part of the country. Facing poverty and sickness, people resort to anger because patients sometimes feel that they are being cheated. What helps me is patience, passion for my work and trust in Christ. Also my colleagues have been very encouraging.

Sr NGOLAH PATIENCE :

“SENT TO UNITE, ALL THINGS IN CHRIST.”

It is with great joy that I am sharing my mission with you. I am teaching History and Religious studies in Christ the King College (C.K.C) Tiko, in the South West Region of Cameroon. The time I have spent with the students enables me to acknowledge the fact that teaching is a gift. Every day, here in Tiko, we are experiencing political instability. In this situation, I greatly admire the readiness of the students to learn. Students yearn for knowledge as one's soul yearns for God. Blessed with this quality of students, I make myself available to their needs.

As a Sister of Christ, I aim to bring everything together under Christ as Head. In my little way, I try to unite the students in their convictions as far as the political crisis is concerned, to unite them when misunderstanding arises and to bring them under the umbrella of Christ. The Spirit who united the Sisters who have gone before us is the same Spirit who unites us today.

I have encouraged these young people to understand that God has called us to be happy. No matter what kind of political crisis is taking place in our country, no matter what our limitations as humans may be, we have been gathered by Christ and we are happy.

Sr FANY JACINTA ELAME :

“I have come that you may have life in abundance” John 10:10

I am called Fany Jacinta Elame. I work at Regina Pacis Health Centre, Mutengene. I have been trained to work as a nurse by profession but presently, I am assisting at the hospital pharmacy. All our patients are blessings to us and so I support them each day with my prayers, encouraging words and smiles which help them to recover from their illnesses. Being present and listening to the sick is very consoling and helps in a quick recovery process. During this period of political instability and insecurity, my quest for justice and peace has been to be Jesus hands, feet, mouth, nose, eyes and head, by bearing witness to His name to the patients, encouraging them, and restoring hope to this troubled world through a devout way of life. I’m also asked to encourage young women who desire to join our congregation in the South West Region. Every day this mission inspires me to deepen my vocation as a Sister of Christ.

